

Life means movement and information in flux.

iQ-Production GmbH is the consequence for the solution of various tasks in the field of medicine, sport and the moving everyday life.

The enterprise develops systems which offer themselves as construct in modules multidisciplinary and appropriate to the health market.

iQ-Production GmbH presents itself as a partner for the development of healing and auxiliary means. With us, as a long-standing competence partner for companies in the areas of sales and practice, you have the opportunity to go new ways.

Whether trade, training, concepts, products, special subject-oriented markets or conservative physiotherapy as well as performance and mass sports, we are partner for you.

There is one target for us:

Problems turn into tasks and give rise to opportunities for success.

Our topics are:

- From the first therapy step to mobile freedom.
- Help with system
- Health with system (help to help yourself)
- Positive time is moving time (energy and time management)
- Work ergonomics and economy (environment design and motivation)

As developer and source of ideas for moving markets, products and concepts, our work presents itself to you as a partner with us anew. A positive performance concept is the target. Since 2004, we have been active in national and international trade fairs for health and sports.

Today, many of our products and concepts are standard in a performance-based healthcare market. Our product ideas ensure flexible market movement and a breath of fresh air. A synergy of existing systems creates the best conditions for a successful market launch. The quality and performance of existing products of our idea-workshop are certified and recognized by institutes and associations.

